

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

At least either of image data and image generation record information is analyzed to determine an image quality parameter relating to image quality, and an output target decision regarding selection of image
5 data as an output target is performed on the basis of the image quality parameter.